SWEEPING ORDERS FOR GRAND JURY.

Federal Body Instructed to "Get Them All, Rich or Poor; High or Low."

COURT USES CAUSTIC TERMS.

Judge Adams Tells Jurors to Inquire Into Methods of Schemers Purporting to Conduct Responsible Concerns.

Federal grand and petit jurors were impaneled yesterday morning by Judge El-mer B. Adams in the United States District Court. The latter were excused to meet this morning in the United States Circuit Court, while the former were immediately charged to investigate "getrich-quick" concerns and persons in high places responsible for the downfall of brnorant foreigners in the recent naturalization frauds.

The Grand Jury, after receiving their instructions, went to the jury-rooms and began immediate investigation. An early report is expected.

Judge Adams's instructions caused condierable surprise on account of the aweeping manner in which he denounced all election wrongdoers. "Get them all," he mid, "rich or poor, high or low; report them irrespective of their positions in life or party affiliations

"It is wrong that the poor and ignorant must suffer the brunt of punishment through the machinations of those who know the enormity of the offense they are committing. It is necessary that the for-eigner who takes out fraudulent papers be form of a man crouching in a dark corner practices, be punished even more severely."

Judge Adams then delivered a discourse on American citizenship in which he described it as an honor, which should be cherished by every one. The qualifications necessary for a foreigner to become a citizen were named by Judge Adams as follows:

"Residence of five years, devotion to the Constitution and a character and disposition towards law and order.

"When any of these primary requisites of citizenship are disobeyed to further the selfish ends of schemers and pollucians it is a blow struck at human liberty and the Constitution of the United States and should meet with quick and rigorous punishment."

Judge Adams then instructed the jury should meet with quick and rigorous punishment."

Judge Adams than instructed the jury to investigate schemers conducting husiness under the guise of responsible brokerage firms, and at the same time cautionling the jurors not to cofound these men with those conducting business in the strictest honesty and integrity.

The men who comprise the Grand Jury are R. P. Dodd, foreman: Seymour Stewart, Charles Maguire, Nicholas Cornellus, John P. Rodgers, W. F. Frankilin, Samuel Lance, Louis F. Kielman, John M. Munroe, T. B. Crow, A. J. Rushing, Luther Conrad, D. P. Moore, Charles Schroeder, W. T. Arnold, E. C. Rowe, William Buxton, Fred D. Gardner, George E. Beattie, M. M. Bay, J. H. Miller and George E. Wents.

APPARENT $75,000 SHORTAGE IN ACCOUNTS OF TRUSTEES.

Elizabeth Maybrick, who will be released prison in England in July of next year, to compel an accounting by certain members of the Board of Trustees of Mrs. Maybrick's ancestors' estate, was contin ued to-day, when Attorney Samuel B. Hayden of Washington, D. C., examined L. Gardner of Brooklyn, one of the trustees, regarding funds said to be due the estate (and Mrs. Maybrick) from sales of land in Virginia, West Virginia, Illinois and Kentucky,

What appeared to be a shortage of about $75,000 in the trustees' accounts was dis-closed by this hearing. Mr. Gardner was asked specifically as to his knowledge of the signing of deeds releasing the Baron-ess de Rocques and her daughter, Mrs. Maybrick, from title to property in Amer-ica ca.

One item of 40,000 acres of land, it is alleged, was sold for $85,000, and of this num only $35,000 was admitted as received by the trustees.

Mr. Gardner said that he did not take sum only $10,000 was admitted as received by the trustees.

Mr. Gardner said that he did not take particular cognizance of the value of the property, addirg that so far as he knew only $2.500 accrued from this saie. An accounting in this last mentioned sum was made in 1853, but since that time the trustees have made no further accounting.

When asked about the shortage of $55,000 Mr. Hayden would say nothing definite.

"We would like to know what became of the money," he said.

of the man, who began struggling to escape.

"I was able to hold him until I had turned on the lights in this room, when I discovered that the man was a negro, named John Davis. I had employed him as coachman about six months ago. Holding him by the arm, I started to the telephone.

"He commenced struggling again, and when we reached the top of the stairs succeeded in breaking away from me. He ran rapidly downstairs, opened the front door and escaped."

It is supposed that the man entered the house by climbing up a pillar of the front porch, as the window leading to the upstairs porch was found open. He was evidently discovered immediately after he entered the house, as nothing is missing.

The police were notified and are endeavoring to locate the negro.

ALVERSTONE'S ARGUMENTS DEMAND THE DISCHARGE USED FOR UNITED STATES. OF SHIPBUILDING RECEIVER

Quotes From Fur Seal Debate to Show Reversal of Attitude,

London, Oct. &-On entering this morn ng on the third day of his argument before the Aluskan Boundary Commission Jacob M. Dickinson of counsel for the United States summed up the question of the Portland canal line, declaring that the American contention was the usual, imple, natural and consistent method of letermining the boundary, while Great Britain's contention changed the direction of the line through the canal to the fiftysixth parallel and introduced a new diection in the boundary line unprovided for in the treaty, and which, instead of carrying the line direct to the fifty-sixth parallel, only seven miles distant, carried the line sixty miles to the coast before reaching that parallel.

Counset denied Attorney General Finlay's and Solicitor General Carson's argunents that the tribunal had no power to ments that the tribural had no power to determine what constituted the coast. Dealing with the British argument that article 7 of the treaty of 1825 applied only to the lister (or strip which Russia was to obtain by the treaty), Mr. Dickinson quoted Chief Justice Alverstone's and the late Lord Russell's own argument as showing that they, as counsel for Great British at the fur seal arbitration of 1853, took exactly the opposite view from that now advanced by Attorney General Finlay and Solicitor General Carsan. Counsel said he was surprised at Great Britain's change of attitude on the listers without giducing any new grounds therefor.

Lord Alverstone Bistened with evident change of artifude on the instere without goducing any new grounds therefor.

Lord Alverstone listened with evident amusement to Mr. Dickinson's use of the interpretations which he and the late Lord Russell of Killowen, the former Lord Chief Justice, "formerly urged in Paris. The commission then adjourned for the day.

Trust Officials Deny Allegations Made in Petition and Urgently Argue for Reversal of Order.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 -- Argument was heard by the United States Court of Appeals to-day on the appeal of the United States Shipbuilding Company, from a de-cision of Judge Kirkpatrick of the New Jersey United States Circuit Court, pointing James Smith, Jr., receiver of the shipbuilding company.

Judge Kirkpatrick on June 20, on peti-tion of four stockholders of the company, adjudged the shipbuilding company in-solvent and placed the affairs of the company in the hands of a receiver.

The shipbuilding concern in its petition to-day states that its four complainants own one-fifth of 1 per cent of the outstanding stock of the company and that notwithstanding that they brought the pending suit on behalf of all the stockholders, not a single other stockholder has joined in the suit.

On the contrary, the petition says, in opposition were represented $8,235,000 first mortgage bonds; $10,000,000 collateral and opposition were represented 25.25.000 first mortgage bonds, $13.000.000 collateral and mortgage bonds, $13.000.000 of preferred stock and $19.000.000 of common stock. The appeal is based on elseven assignments of error against the New Jersey court Most of the alleged errors are based on the claim that the New Jersey court was without jurisdiction. The last error assigned is that no proper cause was shown for the appointment of a receiver and that irreparable harm will result and that no necessity exists for the appointment of a receiver, and that irreparable harm will result and that no necessity exists for the appointment of a receiver.

The bill upon which the receiver was appointed charged that through "reckiess mismanagement the company's directors have made it hopelessly insolvent and that a scheme was devised between Charles M. Schwab and Lewis Nixon before the organization of the company by which the former should acquire the shares of the Bethlehem Steel Company for nothing and sell them to the ship concern at an enormous profit."

The petition also charged that at the time the bill was filed Schwab was "trying, with the aid of the ship company's properties for nothing."

The shipbuilding company, after denying all these allegations, asked that the ing all these allegations, asked that the order of Judge Kirkpatrick appointing Mr. Smith receiver be revoked. Decision was reserved. WOMAN HURT IN COLLISION. Mrs. H. B. McLeod Sustains a Sprained Ankle. One person was injured and several passengers jolted and frightened by the collision of a Missouri Pacific freight train and a Choutesu avenue car at the Vandeventer avenue crossing, yesterday. Mrs. H. B. McLeod, of Grand Tower, III., who is visiting relatives at No. 6429 Wise avenue, sustained a sprained ankle and bruised cheek. The police say she fell in jumping from the car.

The train was a third section of No. 72 and had cut the couplings to allow cars, teams and pedestrians to pass. The watchman, William Arthur, raised the gates and the teams passed over in safety. The street car had nearly crossed the tracks when the train was backed for recoupling. A freight car struck the back end of the street car with a crash and caved in the side. McDOWELL NOT WANTED HERE Has Served Sentence in Missouri Penitentiary.

The Missouri authorities do not want Louis C. McDowell, who is under arrest in New York charged with getting an tation that he was a son of Senator Mark

Hana. McDowell was arrested in January, 1901, for obtaining jewelry valued at several thousand dollars, from Merrick, Walsh & Phelps, by representing himself as a son of William J. Lemp. He was arrested in Cincinnati, where he tried to work the same scheme, claiming to be a son of Millionaire Zimmerman, whose daughter married the Duke of Manchester. He was brought to St. Louis for trial and conwicted.

With "Milwaukee Dutch," a notorious thief, McDowell escaped from the Deputy Sheriffa, who were taking prisoners to the penitentiary. They leaped from the train at Valley Park, McDowell was caught ten days later. He was taken direct to the penitentiary, served his time there and was released on June 26.

The police of New York have been notified by Chief Kiely that McDowell has sorved his time for the crime committed in St. Louis, and that he is no longer wanted here.
